E News Mission Moments

March 2, 2010

Dear Friends and Family,

As the time for departure grows closer and closer for me to travel to Papua New Guinea I am getting more excited everyday to get busy knee deep in the nitty gritty details of ministry with Pioneer Bible Translators. I am excited to be on the frontlines for the Kingdom in a new culture and new place. But as the excitement grows the realization of the hardships of ministry grow. One of those hardships/trials is the waiting game. Presently I am waiting for my work permit and visa to allow me to re-enter Papua New Guinea. Without it obviously I cannot get into the country with the intent of living there. I know that God has his perfect plan laid out in this waiting game, but I do ask that you all will pray fervently with me for the processing of these documents in the Papua New Guinea government system. Also pray fervently that I will be ever trusting and never doubting that he will reveal his perfect timing. I know that ministry is nothing I can do, but it is what He wants to do through me. So please pray that those thoughts will be my thoughts constantly as I wait.

Thank you so much for being mindful of the work of the Kingdom worldwide and for placing their needs above your own in these times of prayer. PLEASE DON'T STOP! The time is NOW to change the world for Christ!

In His Precious Name,

Emily Hinebauch
